

The Art of Soul Midwifery
1st – 4th Sept 2018, Kerry, IRELAND
With Seabhean Teacher Amantha Murphy

In the Ancient Irish Tradition there is a belief that the soul journeys on, often assisted by a bee, to Tir na nOg, to await re-birth, while the spirit becomes a part of nature around us and the body returns to the Great Mother – we are born of the womb and we return to the tomb.

Our journey here upon the Earth begins before we are born, when our souls make contracts with other souls and they with us, to play out parts in each other's lives so we may each grow, awaken and therefore evolve; all of this being part of the cycle/Spiral.

When our Weave is completed and it is time to move on, again, it is also time to begin releasing the ties that bind us and regrets that we might be carrying. These ties are not just with others; they can be with specific memories, items of ownership, karmic ties and with the elements – fire, earth, air, water and also ether.

The role of the Soul/Shamanic Midwife is to assist both those living and preparing for their great passing/transition and to assist those who have passed and who are tied still to the earth plane for some reason or another. Of those living, it is beneficial to assist when there is consciousness and this can also be of great assistance if the person is unconscious.

Of those who have passed over and not yet passed on it can be very beneficial to assist them in releasing what is holding them from travelling on. If possible, being able to assist the person to understand the continuation of the soul as the body continues its process of breaking down.

In this training I will be sharing techniques for working with the above, plus we will be working within the realm of betwixt and between to assist those who have passed and not yet moved on. We will also be working with techniques for protection while we work in these realms. There are herbs and also oils that can be of assistance and I will give you a list of these plus their uses.

- Recognising our own beliefs and fears of our death and transition/passing over
- How to prepare yourself and your bodies to attune with the work of Soul Midwifery
- Conscious dying
- Attuning to the person's bodily needs and requirements
- Recognising and honouring the person's belief systems
- How to 'be' with that person energetically and 'read' what is needed e.g.: massage, breathing, meditation, talking, sitting in vigil
- How to assist in a person's fears, releasing ties, regrets and karmic conditions
- Working and journeying with the person as they move towards their passing
- Journeying with the person after passing if they are not moving/have not moved on
- How to prepare the room for the person's passing
- How to prepare the body for passing
- How to assist in releasing the elements from the physical body
- How to assist in washing the body and singing to the soul on their 'Journey home'
- Blessings and anointing the body, both before and after the passing
- How to 'be' with the loved ones and assist them in supporting the person's Journey
- Dreamweaving – Deathwalking – Tracking a person, using Journeying
- Recognising and working with a 'Death Impulse'
